The Treasury Department's Dynamic Analysis of President Bush's Tax Relief Plan: A Summary and Evaluation

The critical habitat identified in this Action Plan represents all the known habitat used by the Mountain Plover in the GNP area and is therefore deemed sufficient for ensuring that the GNP area contributes meaningfully to national population and distribution objectives of the species. This model includes provisions that assume in the long-run estimates five to 10 years after enactment, undocumented workers will see gains in efficiency, on-the-job learning, and language proficiency, all of which increase their productivity. In addition, the OTA assumes that the federal government imposes debt-to-GNP targeting in a single period.
