United Nations. Economic and Social Council

Unlike more limited explorations of Islam, this work looks at Muslim societies in the Arab heartland as well as in South and South East Asia, and even in Europe and the Americas. Entries address political and social action as well as formal texts, and emphasis is placed on the practice and theory of Islam in Muslim societies around the globe. Placing particular emphasis on the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, The Oxford Encyclopedia of the Modern Islamic World contains over 750 articles in four volumes.

This volume reproduces each lithograph paired with a present-day photograph of the same scene, and accompanied by excerpts from Roberts's own journal. This is an impressive piece of work that draws upon the author's four decades of thought and reading. He has illustrated their stories with equally fascinating and colorful photographs, and has added a text on the mouldid and its meanings.

United Nations. Economic and Social Council

This is the first major work since Braudel's The Mediterranean to address the problems of studying the area as a whole and on a long time-scale. The focus throughout is on the Islamic dimension of the Muslim experience in recent history, and background articles ground the information in its historical context and ensure continuity.
