Cooperative research and development agreement

How do I initiate an agreement review?
Collaborators are not required to provide funds under CRADAs. Intellectual property IP involves new ideas or inventions, and improvements to existing inventions or technologies. All of these technologies have been in development for over a decade, although none are currently used in high-volume, high-quality semiconductor chip manufacturing.

Cooperative Research & Development Agreement (CRADA)

Are there other national considerations which should further temper the current technology transfer mandate? Industries and companies typically are interdependent; thus, can a balance be achieved between the technology transfer interests of U. Leading firms from Japan include NEC, Hitachi, Toshiba, and Fujitsu. The CRADA partners will determine the viability of technical approaches for asset tracking and non-verbal communications exchange by conducting a live test in conjunction with a Coast Guard response exercise.
