Honor in the world does not seem to carry any value in itself, yet at the same time it is recognized that the pursuit of honor drives the organization of the world, an organization that is described as useful and for the benefit of the pneumatics and psychics 99:4—19, 118:13—14. Vide the Babur-Namah Memoirs of Babur tr.

The Aussie Medievalist

Fīrūz Shāh Tughluq 1351-88 is recorded to have built 60 masonry bridges. Diacritical marks have not been used in the text and the work has been kept free from research jargon, to be simply and easily readable to non-subject scholars, students and the general reader, as well as to the historians,. The same title is repeated on the verso of the guard leaf of the first folium this being certainly a later addition.
