Putting a face on the Vikings in North America

I think they blow out of the water anything that was ever found in Newfoundland. Among them was a Southerner, whose name was Tyrkir.

Irish Sagas, Tochmarc Étaíne, The Wooing of Étaín I

A little late to the game, France launched its own New World expeditions in the early 1500s. The sagas, however, contain other clues. Godthaab lies in 51° 30' west of Greenwich, while Julianehaab is approximately 46°.

Can Oceanic Archaeologist Finally Zero in on Elusive Lost Viking Colony?

Offshore to the South-east lay an island. The average annual rainfall is 60 inches with the lowest amount of 37 inches falling at Sandspit Land elevation ranges from 4000 foot mountains on the west coast to a few feet of grassy bank on the east side of the island.

The Norse Discovery of America: Book III. The Norsemen in America: Chapter IV. Discovery of America by the Irish

I found vines and grapes.

Canada's Lost Worlds

This was almost exclusively a hex which brought about some form of barrenness or bad luck. WARRIORS OF THE NORTH PACIFIC: Missionary Accounts of the Northwest Coast, the Skeena and Stikine Rivers, and the Klondike, 1829—1900. As if to test his informants, Cartier presented them with copper objects and asked if that metal, too, could be found in that mysterious region to the northwest.

Can Oceanic Archaeologist Finally Zero in on Elusive Lost Viking Colony?

Cast-iron confirmation came when excavation of the site revealed identical tools to those that had been used by the Vikings in Iceland. They live in and are known, often openly as witches.
