Different treatment of sources is, however, not so hard to fathom when the nature of the sources also differ. The rest of the tract is compiled from the Bible, Bernard Silvestris, Vergil, Horace, and the medieval Bestiary. The object of the instruction is to develop the ability to think and the habit of thinking on lines of broad internationalism so that the rapid progress of events in current history may be viewed in clear perspective and with due appreciation of the relation that these events bear to each other.

When judging between two competing theories that cover the facts equally well, the simplest theory is most likely to be correct. WILLIAM M, SLOANE, New York JAMES SPEYER, New York OSCAR S.

Canonical Gospel of Jesus A Questioned ? « Christian Liberal Doctrine

It can be broken only by defeat. And verbal variation is inevitably greater when the second scribe is not just a clerk but an author intent on publishing his own version of the evidence — as is the case in the gospels.

The an of Matthew Paris in the Chronica majora. HENRI LA FONTAINE, Professor of International Law; Senator; Director of the International Bibliographical Institute; President of the Bureau International de la Paix at Berne since 1907; member of the Interparliamentary Union, CHARLES GIDE, Professor of Economics in the University of Paris. It appears the many hypotheses of modern scholarship are in many cases much more fantastic and problematic than their perceptions of the Gospel accounts.
