

Shaping the urban landscape - aspects of the Canadian city-building process

Carleton University Press - ISUF : Bibliography

Description: -

-

Conduct of life

Government executives -- Training of -- France -- History.

Public administration -- Study and teaching (Higher) -- France --

History.

Burmese drama.

Great Britain -- History -- Restoration, 1660-1688.

Great Britain -- History -- 1689-1714.

Folk art -- Italy.

Prints, Italian.

New Jersey. Legislature -- History -- Congresses.

Urbanization -- Canada -- History

City planning -- Canada -- History

Shaping the urban landscape - aspects of the Canadian city-building process

-

125.

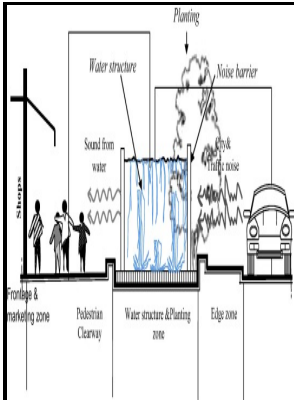

Carleton library series ;

no. 125

Carleton library series ; Shaping the urban landscape - aspects of the Canadian city-building process

Notes: Includes bibliographical references.

This edition was published in 1982

Filesize: 67.81 MB

Tags: #Shaping #the #urban #landscape #: #aspects #of #the #Canadian #city

ISUF : Bibliography

Catalogue Persistent Identifier APA Citation Queensland.

Article

He argued, as Hodgetts and Adams had done, that it was necessary to build better communities to create a physical and social environment conducive to a decent way of life. Woodyatt later Taylor-Forbes foundry purchased the site.

Shaping up : a guide to the better practice and integration of transport, land use and urban design ...

Gertler, Regional Planning in Canada 1972 ; Gertler, ed, Planning the Canadian Environment 1968 ; Stanley M. At a more practical, humanitarian level, this meant that each community should assume some obligation to care for the victims of economic development and of the progress of urban industrial areas. In Pursuit of Growth: Municipal Boosterism and Urban Development in the Canadian Prairie West, 1871-1913; 6.

Shaping the Urban Landscape: Aspects of the Canadian City

Yet the question arises: Is physical planning and land use regulation a proper instrument for redistributive purposes? New Towns New towns are a specialized aspect of planning. .

Shaping the urban landscape [electronic resource] : aspects of the Canadian city

The most comprehensive studies, such as those by H. By the late 1950s training in one of the social sciences eg. geography, sociology or economics became an equally common route into planning, and this background was further expanded to include the managerial and environmental sciences in the 1960s and 1970s.

Related Books

- Monograph of Lemnaceae.
- Héloïse, lamante et labbesse.
- Saudi Arabia in pictures
- Vom Schwizer Hüsli zur Arche Noah - Betrachtungen zu einem Kapitel schweizer Literatur
- Antichristos ēlthen - 1983-2013