Northern Foreign Policies: Tensions Between Canadian and American Visions — Past and Present

Relations deteriorated on many points in the Nixon years 1969—74 , including trade disputes, defense agreements, energy, fishing, the environment, cultural imperialism, and foreign policy. Those whom nature hath so joined together, let no man put asunder. In February 2009 President Obama and Prime Minister Harper announced the bilateral Clean Energy Dialogue CED , which is charged with expanding clean energy research and development; developing and deploying clean energy technology; and building a more efficient electricity grid based on clean and renewable energy in order to reduce greenhouse gases and combat climate change in both countries.
