Professor Colm O'Baoill

Shortly after his death, a collection of his Gaelic prose writings was edited by his son in law, , with a biographical sketch by Norman MacLeod jnr. About 1980 and after, he co-operated with Cathair Ó Dochartaigh, then in the Department of Celtic in Glasgow, towards a major projected anthology of all the extant examples of the 17th-19th-century Irish verse form known as Trí Rainn agus Amhrán: 103 of them were found one of them in Scottish Gaelic , some during sabbatical terms spent visiting collections of manuscripts both in Britain and in Ireland. Contributions to a Comparative Study of Ulster Irish and Scottish Gaelic.
