Instead of being able to continue the work of the ancients and to start from where the latter had left, they had to start as it were from the beginning. The longer one consists of 191 rhymed political verse lines, which relate how the youth asked for a kiss and the girl requested a ring, as a guarantee that he would marry her. Does this mean that we should neglect the study of Hindu and Chinese history? The author, or compiler, of these works is unknown.
