The Art of Judgment: A Study of Policy Making

Second is the call itself. Making decisions is certainly the most important task of a manager and it is often a very difficult one.

Making Judgment Calls

Orders and plans are detailed and explicit, and successful execution depends on strict obedience by subordinates, with minimal decisionmaking and initiative on their part. Designing the donation system with knowledge of the power of defaults can dramatically change donation rates without changing the options available to citizens. There is a tremendous amount of stress and anxiety that can accompany making choices that affect another person and his or her well-being.

The Art of Judgment: A Study of Policy Making

Each system consists of numerous components that may also be complex systems, each interacting and affecting many other systems.
