Te Tiriti o Waitangi / Aotearoa NZ's histories resources guide / Aotearoa NZ's histories / Social Sciences Online

Article the First The Chiefs of the Confederation of the United Tribes of New Zealand and the separate and independent Chiefs who have not become members of the Confederation cede to Her Majesty the Queen of England absolutely and without reservation all the rights and powers of Sovereignty which the said Confederation or Individual Chiefs respectively exercise or possess, or may be supposed to exercise or to possess over their respective Territories as the sole Sovereigns thereof. The museum's Documentary Heritage collection includes manuscripts, archives, maps and plans, newspapers, books and other publications, photographic materials, paintings, drawings, prints and more. Article 39 Indigenous peoples have the right to have access to financial and technical assistance from States and through international cooperation, for the enjoyment of the rights contained in this Declaration.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi Policy Statement

There is also a concern that some of the attempts to redress the past and address present inequities could predominantly benefit middle-class and elite Maori. It was possibly the first time the treaty document had been on public display since it was signed. While the Panel supports the current fluid development of the Treaty within the constitution, more consideration should be given to Treaty-based options that do not seek to include the Treaty within the current Westminster system.

Auckland and te Tiriti o Waitangi/the Treaty of Waitangi

As a translation of the document originally penned in English, the Māori text generally fails to convey the meaning of the English text. The Ministry is responsible for the machinery of government settings and we play an important role in providing information and intelligence back to the Ministry as we carry out our duties as a regulator. Through my practice, by implementing the principles and strands of Te Whāriki, as Macfarlane and Macfarlane 2012 put it, the principle of participation is reflected.
