

Connecting with students will to succeed - the power of conation

Pearson/Skylight - Conation: cultivating the will to succeed among middle and high school students.

Description: -

- Don't grab the hook. Teachers should not fall into the power trap, especially in front of the class.
- Avoid and defuse direct confrontations.
- Listen to the problem in private.
- Recognize the student's feelings.
- Privately acknowledge the power struggle.
- Do not embarrass students publicly.
- Give the students choices in their academic work.
- Place the power seeker in a leadership role.
- Encourage independent thinking—but not anarchy!
