However, knowing something on an intellectual level does not necessarily lead to a change in behavior. Nursing interventions should be based on evidence of the effectiveness of the treatment. Choosing the one most acceptable to the patient improves the chances for success.

PSYCHIATRIC NURSING: STANDARDS OF PSYCHIATRIC NURSING

The American Nurses Association 2001 has a code of ethics for nurses.

Finally, supervision is only as helpful as the skill of the supervisor, the openness of the supervised nurse, and the motivation of both to learn and grow.

Psychiatric

The nurse must help the patient evaluate these new patterns, integrate them into life experiences, and practice problem solving to prepare for future experiences. In July, 2001, the Congress of Nursing Practice and Economics voted to accept the new language of the interpretive statements resulting in a fully approved revised Code of Ethics for Nurses With Interpretive Statements.
