Diversity of design strategies Patterns in combination tend to increase the likelihood of health benefits of a space.

26 50 00 LIGHTING

Duration of exposure and frequency of access Identifying the most appropriate duration of exposure to a pattern, or combination of patterns, can be difficult.

Lighting Design Guidance

Psychological responses can be learned or hereditary, with past experiences, cultural constructs and social norms playing a significant role in the psychological response mechanism. The key issue is that some designed environments are well-adapted supporting long term life and some are not.

Lighting Design Guidance

The Experience A space with good Non-Rhythmic Sensory Stimuli feels as if one is momentarily privy to something special, something fresh, interesting, stimulating and energizing.
