Preaching with all our souls : a study in hermeneutics and psychological type

This is harder rather than easier reading. Packer suggests that the reason for such an interest lies in a deeply troubling sense that we do not know how to revive the powerful preaching of Whitefield, Wesley, Simeon and others. Eleven participants were invited in type-alike groups to engage in a conversation between the Lucan post-resurrection narrative concerning the Road to Emmaus journey and encounter and the contemporary theme of discipleship.

Reading and Proclaiming the Resurrection: An Empirical Study in Psychological Type Theory among Trainee and Experienced Preachers Employing Mark 16 and Matthew 28, Journal of Empirical Theology

Although this has mainly focused on how the social location of scholarly readers affects their interpretation, there is a growing group of biblical scholars who are engaging with 'ordinary' readers. This group did not mention the fig tree.

Empirical Theology and Biblical Hermeneutics: Exploring Lessons for Discipleship from the Road to Emmaus (Luke 24: 13)

It promises a new theory about the nature of preaching, based on a method that involves both hermeneutics and psychological typing. Show more
5 This qualitative study was positioned within an emerging scientific field concerned with empirical explorations into theologies of grace. We can reach the truth only by understanding or mastering our experience.

Preaching: With all our souls: a study in hermeneutics and psychological type by Leslie J. Francis

It is hypothesised that the order of preference will reflect the broader distribution of dominant type preferences within the wider Christian community in general and among preachers in particular. We are grateful for his generosity in leaving the great legacy for us all, and in particular, for the future generation of African biblical scholars.

Preaching: With all our souls: a study in hermeneutics and psychological type by Leslie J. Francis, Andrew Village, Paperback

The special section has articles from research groups in Europe, the USA and Australia on clergy work-related psychological health, stress, burnout and coping strategies. We must engage with God as we seek to be both transformed by and understanding of His self-giving through the Word. It was an illustrated manuscript with many of his detailed mandalas depicting a dialogue between Elijah an old man and Salome a young woman.

Faves from Ghalib

This is a practical guide to preaching, grounded in the innovative and original theory of the SIFT method, written by two practical theologians who preach Sunday by Sunday. Along with , he extends the argument to the nature of architectural education and design.
