Molecular Biology and Genetics of Lung Cancer

Genetic unmasking of an epigenetically silenced microRNA in human cancer cells. KRAS KRAS is part of the RAS family of proto-oncogenes KRAS, NRAS and HRAS occurring in humans and encodes a G-protein with a critical role in controlling signal transduction pathways which regulate cell proliferation, differentiation and survival.

When treated with antibodies that inhibit MET and erlotinib patients were seen to have a positive response Schiller et al. One way to introduce wild type p53 into cancerous lung tissue is through injecting virus vectors directly into the tumour. MET The proto-oncogene MET located on chromosome 7q21-q31 encodes a membrane tyrosine kinase receptor that is also known as hepatocyte growth factor receptor.

Cancer Biology

Metformin induces unique biological and molecular responses in triple negative breast cancer cells.

Mutations of PTEN occur only rarely in about 5% of NSCLC being more common in SCC than ADC 10. Smoking is the most important risk factor for lung cancer worldwide; 85% of lung cancers are caused by the carcinogens found in tobacco smoke.
