Agenda

Indigenous organizations and NGOs have occasionally submitted reports to the Permanent Forum in the past. Our Common Future states that governments could not address environmental protection separately from the related crises of economic development and energy production.

United Nations Conference on the Human Environment (1972)

The summit, organized by the United Nations, brought together the most extreme environmental activists from around the world to deal with the supposed threat from global warming, and Agenda 21 was the document they drew up. The Declaration of the Conference noted that population growth, developing economies, and technological and industrial advancements harmed the environment. States shall facilitate and encourage public awareness and participation by making information widely available.

Declaration of the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment

The United Nations General Assembly convened the UNCHE at the request of the Swedish government. Conference on the Human Environment 1972 Introduction In response to the growing environmental movement of the 1960s, many nations began to take actions to protect the environment within their borders. This explains the absence of a UN role in environmental protection in the UN Charter.

Earth Summit (2002)

Trade policy measures for environmental purposes should not constitute a means of arbitrary or unjustifiable discrimination or a disguised restriction on international trade.

Agenda

To ensure effective follow-up of Agenda 21 and UNCED as a whole, the General Assembly established in 1992 the CSD as a functional commission of the United Nations Economic and Social Council ECOSOC.
