List of Medal of Honor recipients for World War II

Revolutionary turmoil in Soviet Russia induced President Wilson in August 1918 to direct Army participation in expeditions of United States and Allied forces that penetrated the Murmansk-Archangel region of European Russia and into Siberia via Vladivostock. Fourth echelon activities were reserved for the air depot group, which operated in the rear of and in support of one or more service groups. Instead, it established the Army of the United States as an organization of three components, the professional Regular Army, the civilian National Guard, and the civilian Organized Reserves Officers' and Enlisted Reserve Corps.
