The Sultan's Anthologist

Even though he is one of the most important litterateurs of the Mamluk era, his work has so far received little scholarly attention. Oxygen content in oil decreased with the increase of temperature suggesting that deoxygenation is favoured at high temperatures. A prolific author and master of the maqāmāt genre, Ibñ Abī Hağalāh also penned numerous other prose works, many of which are lost or still unedited.

The Sultan's Anthologist

Algae oil was found to have fuel-like properties mainly viscosity and calorific value.

Narcissism

Her shrieks grow slowly fainter, as the mainland falls behind.
