Oral accounts of his execution by firing squad were never verified. Villa has relatively few sites in Mexico named for him. Eighteen Americans and about 80 Villistas were killed.

Pancho Villa

Angeles later was captured by Carranza's forces and was executed on 26 November 1919. In November 1915, Carranza's forces captured and executed Contreras, Pereyra, and son.

He forced the wealthy to give loans to fund the revolutionary war machinery. . Rentería and Señez eventually were granted small government pensions decades after Villa's death.

Pancho Villa

After his death he was excluded from the pantheon of revolutionary heroes until the Sonoran generals Obregón and Calles, whom he battled during the Revolution, were gone from the political stage. These motions accompanied with gifts and cost reductions for poorer sections of the state represented large changes from previous revolutionary governments, and led to large support for Villa in significant portions of Chihuahua's population.
