

Financial institutions in Yugoslavia

Jugoslovenski pregled - Bretton Woods Conference

Description: -

-
Financial institutions -- Yugoslavia.
Financial institutions in Yugoslavia
-Financial institutions in Yugoslavia

Notes: Translation of Finansijske ustanove u Jugoslaviji.
This edition was published in 1977

Filesize: 53.25 MB

Tags: #Refworld

Breaking Yugoslavia

In January 1990, an agreement signed with the IMF required expenditure cuts amounting to 5 percent of gross domestic product.

Financial institutions in Yugoslavia (Book, 1977) [quizapp.evertonfc.com]

Paying for the reparations of left the German economy in ruins. The Yugoslav model also followed Engels, who suggested that the socialist economy should be based on a socially planned regulation of production in accordance with the needs both of society as a whole and of each individual see Uvalić, R. Wanniski has forwarded a memo to US Secretary of State Madeleine Albright consisting of a report prepared by the then Polyconomics staff member Criton Zoakos in May 1993.

Yugoslavia: IMF And World Bank Considering Membership For Belgrade

Just as economic collapse spurred the drift toward separation, the separation in turn exacerbated the economic crisis. In Yugoslavia, had it not been for the introduction of self-management in the early 1950s, which effectively initiated and facilitated a long process of economic reforms, many institutional changes would probably not have been introduced. See VERZIJL, supra note 58, at 166.

Bretton Woods Conference

Such a position undoubtedly strengthened the perception in the Yugoslav and in the Serbian leaderships that flexibility was not required in negotiations, since independence for Slovenia and Croatia was not supported internationally.

The dissolution of Yugoslavia and the fate of its financial obligations.

Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan; New York: St. Republic of Yugoslavia, 218 F.

Related Books

- London central strike committee.
- Suluk jalan terbatas Gus Miek
- On the origin of the so-called test-cells in the Ascidian ovum.
- Història de Barcelona - Ateneu Enciclopèdic Popular, 1902-1999
- Old master prints.