How Can I Help? A Guide For Family and Friends

Please help your children understand that our children find socialising so hard. Mothers were believed to be the primary cause of the eating disorders of their children, as they were in the case of schizophrenia and autism. Facts sheets may not be reproduced, duplicated or posted on any other website without written consent from AACAP.

Eating Disorders in Teens

We are too exhausted to explain this illness. They don't want to upset the happy event and can feel huge amounts of guilt and shame if that happens.

Family

Other comorbid problems may be addressed.

FEAST: Support and resources for families affected by eating disorders

Some are still awake through the night ensuring their child is not exercising.
