Suppose you want to get your scientific paper as soon as possible.

Writing a Lab Report Ⓜ... Absolute Originality Ⓜ™

The article should include a discussion of the basic science relevant to the topic, why it is biologically or medically important, what work has been done on the topic if any , major challenges to understanding the question at hand, competing hypotheses, and what advances would be necessary to shed light on the problem. We welcome both exploratory and confirmatory research that has the potential to drive change in research and evaluation practices in the life sciences and beyond. Up to four worksheets on comprehension and other literacy skills support each lesson.
