Where the sulphuret of iron is found, a chemical action may be brought about by the addition of lime. The weather of January, though on the average not low, has been accompanied with three or four very cold days, — the coldest but one since December, 1835, when the thermometer was 18° below zero. Printed circulars were sent to all the fruit growers of West Jersey, APRIL.

Of the new grapes, so far as I have seen, few of them are of any value for wine ; and when a season occurs that rot or some other disease destroys the beauty of the bunches for the table, their value to the owner will be proportionately less than a variety good both for table and wine. The house is heated with a hot-air flue, and has a pit filled with leaf soil, in the centre of the space within it.
