Sea Turtles

Green sea turtles at the refuge annually produce between 1,000 to 15,000 nests and leatherback sea turtles Dermochelys coriacea annually produce between 1 to 80 nests. Nye's two characters drift through events with pleasure, wisdom, and insight.

With rapid growth and expansion along with unethical fishing practices, many of these beaches that have been home to these turtles for generations have come under threat, along with dwindling the survival chances of this already endangered species. There is no one on the beach except for a few birds circling above the cliffs. The Turtle Reserve was established by Royal Decree in 1996.

I do hope teachers read this book and incorporate into their classrooms because reading this book can help young students crush any stereotypes they have regarding Southwest Asia, the Middle East, Arabs, or Islam--not everyone is a terrorist--and this book helps open our eyes to the reality. The beaches below the spectacular headlands and cliffs of Ra'as Hamar, just half an hour's drive west of Salalah, is one spot where it is possible, in late summer months, to watch both Green and Loggerhead Turtles nesting simultaneously. Organized at a vital time of the year, which coincides with Salalah Tourism Festival, the exhibition sees good turnout from travelers through Salalah Airport.

Ras Al Jinz Turtle Reserve (Oman)

It is in these months when turtles wander closer to the shore to feed and procreate.
