Thomas Warton, the Younger

Malone, single-minded in his pursuit of standards of textual scholarship that would trump preceding editors of Shakespeare, knew that his friendship with Warton was uniquely helpful. Warburton said that Warton was the first antiquarian of taste and spirit since the days of Spelman and Selden. Third edition of this significant collection of poetry compiled by the younger Thomas Warton, and first published at Oxford but with a false Edinburgh imprint in 1753.

In the years that followed the Observations, this fascination led Warton to compose a history of Winchester, where his brother lived, the Life and Literary Remains of Ralph Bathurst, who had built the reputation and some of the fabric of Trinity College, and an edition of Theocritus. For an overview of changes from the review to the pamphlet see Edmond Malone, Cursory Observations on the Poems attributed to Thomas Rowley, intr. The text of the marker reads: Holy Trinity Lutheran Church Founded in 1730.
