Gramophone Records of the First World War an Hmv Catalogue 1914 1918

Some of these records are available to view online but serious in-depth research on this subject will usually require a visit to our building where you can view a much wider range of documents. The company was taken over by Decca Records in March 1937.

HMV RECORD LABELS ON THE B

Vocalion catalogues from the 1920s and a selection of Zonophone catalogues are also included. This disc was the first one of these I had ever seen, so acquired it. After the Revolution, some of the early Soviet labels were pretty crude.

Markings on 78 rpm Records.

In December 1943 it embarked for Italy and in February and March of the following year took part in the bitter fighting at Monte Cassino. From February 1918 the Department of Propaganda in Enemy Countries reported directly to the War Cabinet. On its return home in 1832 the Regiment was given the appellation 'Royal' by William IV in honour of its achievements, and so its title became the 35th Royal Sussex Regiment of Foot.
