Most people - 152 - died in KwaZulu-Natal, followed by 129 in the Western Cape, 117 in Gauteng, 110 in the Eastern Cape, 81 in the Free State, 75 in Mpumalanga, 68 in the Northern Province, 56 in North West and 39 in the Northern Cape. As much as the European settlers imported the religion of Christianity into South Africa, through colonialism and imperialism they equally imported the ideologies of capitalism and liberalism. The investigation found that Dingiswayo and Baloyi pressurised two council officials - the director for administration Solomon Malao and the acting director for finance Mosweu Mokgatsi, to sign the investment agreement by subjecting the officials to fear and intimidation.
