Law enforcement leaders have an responsible, law-abiding adults in their communities who wish to be armed for their protection and the protection of the greater public. Software, not hardware By all accounts, Brown was at a disadvantage from an equipment and tactical perspective.

But I agree with you and A. His personal effort allowed him to stop a moving, hostile threat at extraordinary distances with incredible efficiency. That aside, not a lot of this episode has stuck with me, so revisiting it again ought to be an interesting journey back down Memory Lane.

Road Trip! 2: Our All

As alarming as this might all sound, Uber's background check process is not illegal. The End Comes as No Surprise The dissolution of New Jersey-based Toys R Us, which traces its roots to a baby-furniture store opened in 1948, comes as no surprise to industry watchers. It seems at least a possibility, and then perhaps he let his assistant get the primary credit.

Ipad Prospects

I liked this episode, largely due to the underlying irony and schaudenfraude of the killer: a man who makes a living exposing and chastising criminals is himself a criminal.
